CHARDON, OHIO, FRIDAY, DEC. 16, 1859.

Congress. The House is still unorganized, and the prospect now is that it will remain so for some time to come. The Southern members, and their few remaining Northern allies, seem to prefer to wage the "irrepromible conflict" without a Speaker or even temporary Chairman to preside over their deliberations, if such they may be called

As late as Tuesday last, but three ballots had been taken for Speaker, the last of which resulted as follows: Sherman, 110; Bocock, 88; Gilmer, 20; Scattering, 14. Mr. Sherman lacked but six votes of an election.

Most of the time in the Senate, is occupied in the discussion of Mr. Mason's resolution, asking for a Committee to inquire into the origin and extent of the Harper's Ferry conspiracy. As the Message will probably be sent to that body before the organization of the House, we shall, if possible, publish it in our next issue.

More Sacrifices in Virginia.

To-day (the 16th) Green, Copeland, Cook and Coppec, are to be executed at Charlestown, Va., for their participation in the affair at Harper's Forry. It will prove an eventful day to Virginia and to Slavery .-The fate of these men is mevitable; yet we trust the time is approaching, when there will be no American Slavery to demand its victims. The following dispatch from Charlestown, shows what preparations have been made for their executions :

Carnesrows, Va. Dec. 13 - Extensive preparations are making for the approachitary are now on duty. Six more companies are announced on their way bere. Citizons find difficulty in passing from one part of town to another, and are brought to bals and prarched to the guard house if unable to give the countersign. Green and Copuland will be hung at 11 o'clock in the morning; and Cook and Coppoe at 3 o'cleek in the at ternoon. All are composed and look calmly on their approaching doom. The bodies will be given to their friends, if claimed -The town is quiet and there is no more rumors or excitement. Military discipline is with great pleasure when civil government unchristian, it must fail and give way to of the law, and if possible, some good old is again restored. The people would will slave society—a social system as old a the Slave Mother with her children, weeping is again restored.
